

Thou Shalt Not kill

Taking life is murder and it's horrible when the life didn't get a chance to live. God has a plan for each and every baby to live it's life. No one should be allowed to end a baby's life before it even starts. There are many different options if a woman gets pregnant. A pregnant woman could reach out for help to the Alpha Center or search for an adoption agency. There are many families who are unable to bear children and want to adopt. My aunt was given up for adoption by my grandmother who was 14 when she gave birth. She could have easily had an abortion but she chose to give her up for adoption. The first time my aunt reunited with her mother, she said "Thank you for not aborting me".

Do what is right in God's eyes. Thou shalt not kill is one of the ten commandments and should be taken seriously no matter the age of the person. Take responsibility for what happens in the future, and don't let anyone tell you killing the unborn is right because it's not.

Many reasons pregnant women don't want to raise their baby are that they think the baby will interfere with their work or school life, they don't have enough money or have relationship problems. A woman could prevent a lot of this by not having underage sex or not having sex until you are married and ready for a child. God has a life planned out for every child and abortion will ruin God's plan.

The process of abortion is scary and dangerous. During an abortion the doctors inject numbing medication into the cervix, stretch the opening of the cervix and go into the uterus using a series of dilating rods. Then inserting a thin tube through the cervix into the uterus and using a combination of medical tools and suction, to take the pregnancy tissue out of the uterus. It could be very painful for some people but others might just feel some slight discomfort. Afterwards you will have to wait in the recovery room for up to an hour or until you feel better. Some complications are heavy bleeding, damage to the womb or sepsis. Long term effects are risk of breast cancer, mental health disorders, and premature death. Four in ten women have negative thoughts about the abortions after it happens which could lead to depression.

Abby Johnson worked for Planned Parenthood for eight years and now is a pro life activist because of what she saw and heard one day when she assisted in an abortion. "An unborn baby fighting back desperate, to move away from the suction. And I'll never forget what the doctor said next, "Beam me up Scotty" - Abby Johnson. Now she's a pro life activist joining the fight for life. Thou shalt not kill is an instruction to protect us from lifelong consequences, pain and regret. That's why I'm Pro Life.
